WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell today rejected acquittal and new trial motions of Dwight L. Chapin, former presidential appointments secretary convicted of lying to the Watergate grand jury.

NY bank hikes interest rate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Franklin National Bank today raised the prime interest rate for business loans from 10 1/2 to 11 percent.

Chairman Harold Glusker said the move was necessary because more than justly fit. He might as well face reality and get to the top as soon as possible. Fussy footing only prolongs the agony of waiting for the decline.

Graham thinks no tax fraud

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The Rev. Billy Graham said Thursday he doesn't think fraud is involved in President Nixon's income tax controversy.

Graham, a friend of Nixon, said he doesn't believe the full report on that matter is out. The evangelist also denied rumors he plans to retire and plans to go to Los Angeles soon to mark the 25th anniversary of his first crusade.

A deputy of Adolf Hitler during the World War II years, Hess has been imprisoned here under four-power guard since 1946. He has been the solitary prisoner for more than seven years. A request for a visit from his wife and son was rejected by the Soviet Union, despite U.S., British and French approval.

Viet Cong blast recent class

SAIGON (UPI) — Military sources said today Viet Cong commandos disguised in government uniforms apparently launched grenades into a military classroom filled with South Vietnamese recruits, ripping apart the auditorium and causing heavy casualties.

The five explosions, at first thought to be mortars, killed 17 officers and wounded 112 others at the La Tuu training camp, nine miles north of Saigon, the South Vietnamese high command said today.

Lacking clerk, Hazelton city offices closed

By CHARLOTTE BELL

Times-News writer

HAZELTON — City officials here closed today because the city has no clerk.

Mayor Jimmy Dryden, the object of a new recall election wave, said he was blocked in attempts to name a temporary clerk so city business could be carried on.

He said today he tried Thursday to swear in a new city clerk, but other members of the council would not approve the appointment.

Mayor Dryden said he is meeting today with attorneys to determine if he has the authority to name a temporary clerk on his own position as mayor. If so he plans to name a clerk to serve until the next regular city Council meeting. This would enable the city offices to open.

Another complication has arisen since Wednesday when regular city clerk, Jackie Christopher, resigned and left her position. Mayor Dryden was named in recall petitions filed with the clerk April 20.

He was then notified by the clerk of the petitions and by law has five days in which to resign.

He has not resigned and the law states the city clerk must then set a date for the recall election, but there is no city clerk to set the election.

Mayor Dryden said he did not request the clerk's resignation and Mrs. Christopher resigned by her own choice.

Mrs. Christopher, in a letter today to the Times-News editor, said she resigned because "I was fed up with the whole mess."

The situation began with recall petitions being filed in February against two councilmen, Elsworth Hendley and Leonard Hamilton. Original petitions did not contain sufficient signatures and were returned for recirculation.

An election has now been set for May 3 for the recall of Hamilton, but no date has been set for the election involving Hendley.

Oil tag cuts US balance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite record dollar volume exports, higher priced petroleum sent the U.S. balance of trade into deficit in March for the first time in nine months, the Commerce Department reported today.

The United States exported goods worth $7,673.9 million, but imported $7,845.2 million for a deficit of $171.3 million.

Petroleum imports totaled $1,566.3 million last month. The first quarter import value of $4,451.5 million for petroleum products was nearly triple the value of the first quarter of 1973.

Another Commerce report said its composite index of leading indicators continued to rise in March despite negative growth in the Gross National Product.

The index traditionally has been used to forecast whether the economy will expand or decline. It has been suggesting robust economic growth for the past 14 months, but the actual performance has been considered modest.

The deficit in the balance of trade was the first for any month since June, 1973.

The merchandise trade figure is part of the balance of payments, which includes the value of services as well as goods. The balance of payments has been favorable for the United States since the second devaluation of the dollar.

Commerce said March exports exceeded the previous record dollar value set in February by $68.4 million.

CSI granted bid call OK

Times-News Capitol Bureau

BOISE — The College of Southern Idaho got permission Thursday from the state's Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council to call for bids on a new vocational-technical education building.

CSI President Dr. James Taylor asked the council for permission to combine $700,000 from the state's Permanent Building Fund with a $2.5 million project. The council agreed, and Taylor said he expects a bid can be awarded by October.

He also told the council he hopes for completion of the project by November, or December, 1975.

In other action, the council approved plans for a $385,000 new classroom and living quarters building for the Idaho School for the Deaf and Blind in Gooding. The structure will also serve as the resource center for the state's network of itinerant teachers for the visually handicapped children throughout the state.

Tape transcripts complete

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Transcripts have been completed of tapes of President Nixon's Watergate-related conversations under subpoena by the House Judiciary Committee and will be intensively reviewed this weekend by the President, officials said today.

The transcripts will be submitted to the impeachment panel by the new Tuesday deadline and are "complete in their integrity," the officials said.

But they said profanities, vulgarities and irrelevancies which cropped up in the conversations by Nixon with his top aides had been deleted.

According to the officials, tapes of 36 conversations dated from 1972 to 1974 were requested were transcribed by a team under the direction of presidential counsel J. Fred Buzhardt.

They said the other conversations were never recorded.

There were strong indications by the officials that Nixon would not turn over to the impeachment panel the actual tapes.

Several administration aides have read the transcripts over the past few days. Some said they felt "much better now" and were convinced Nixon could prove his innocence of any participation in the Watergate cover-up.

Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., Judiciary Committee chairman, and other committee members have made it plain that transcripts alone will not be satisfactory to them.

Nixon is to respond to the subpoena by Tuesday at 8 a.m. EDT.

The President planned to go to Camp David later today to contemplate his final decisions on dealing with subpoenas and to review the voluminous records expected to be transmitted to the House committee next week.

Officials said a "white paper" also was being prepared by presidential aides to be made public at the time the documents are sent to Congress.

The Judiciary Committee has been attempting to avoid partisan wrangling, and now has a taste of what it can be as it weighs the evidence which will either impeach or exonerate the President.

Nevada wreck kills MV man

ALAMO, Nev. (UPI) — An Idaho man was killed and three persons injured Thursday in a three-car accident on U.S. 93 near this southern Nevada community.

The victim was identified as Robert McPherson, 22, Jerome, who is stationed at El Toro Marine Base in California.

The injured were Jane Elli Mason, 36, Alamo; William Motta, Tucson, Ariz.; and Danny Twilley, 19, Lodi, Idaho.

The Nevada Highway Patrol said the accident occurred when one car tried to pass in a no-passing zone, hit one vehicle head-on and then hit the third.

Henry's hopes high

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today he was hopeful of getting an agreement on Israeli-Syrian disengagement in his sixth mediation trip to the Middle East starting next week — or in subsequent visits.

But he made clear once again it was going to be more difficult to arrange the Golan Heights disengagement than it had been to reach agreement on the Israeli-Egyptian truce.

The secretary, in an apparent effort to spur Syrian agreement, said it was possible that Damascus could qualify for $100 million in U.S. economic aid once it had committed itself to peace and military disengagement.

In response to a question, Kissinger said he was hopeful that the Soviet Union would "play a constructive role" in the forthcoming discussions on separating Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan front.

Kissinger ran his summary on his trip, stopping first in Geneva to confer with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko Monday. This meeting is designed to tie in Russia more closely with the American effort to separate Syrian and Israeli forces.

Officials have said the hope is that Russia will pressure Syria, which receives large-scale military aid from the U.S., to consider favorably a U.S. compromise proposal for disengagement of forces.

Kissinger emphasized he wanted to talk with Gromyko also about the current State of the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks (SALT), which deals primarily with limiting and possibly reducing offensive nuclear weapons.

Presidential power slash studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate watergate committee is expected to recommend in its final report a severe reduction of presidential power to prevent future scandals.

A preliminary draft of one section of the committee report blames the Watergate scandal on excessive secrecy in the executive branch and a growing concentration of power in the presidency.

A copy of the draft was obtained by UPI.

The report recommends that less power be concentrated in the White House by making the government agencies, particularly the Justice Department, the Internal Revenue Service, the FBI and the CIA more independent.

The report has not yet been adopted by the seven senators on the committee. But committee sources said that, with the exception of a few controversial proposals, it is expected to be approved.

One of its most controversial proposals would create a permanent special prosecutor. His job would be to operate independently of the Justice Department in prosecuting government officials accused of wrongdoing, especially in cases related to presidential actions.

The report considers, but rejects a number of constitutional amendments — to restrict presidential power. The committee is divided on a proposal to amend the Constitution to make serious misconduct in a political campaign an impeachable offense.

To limit political influence in government, the report recommends that top aides in the White House and Justice Department be prohibited from engaging in political campaigns.

Among other recommendations, the report — Prohibit assistants to the president from being interviewed between the president and

Protesters hit high fuel costs

WHITING, Ind. (UPI) — As demonstrators against high petroleum prices marched outside the head of Standard Oil of Indiana today, a stockholders' meeting Thursday that profits are way up but not enough to finance future energy supply development.

Estimates on the number of demonstrators varied from 500 to 2,000, and on two occasions police had to break up efforts by protesters to disrupt the stockholders' meeting in the Whiting Community Center.

There were no injuries or arrests, although police used tear gas to clear the area while removing five demonstrators from the building.

Company chairman John F. Swearingen told about 500 stockholders that earnings were up 41 per cent for the first quarter of 1974 over the same period a year ago.

He said the company raised its rate of return 12.5 per cent last year but the "profit level has been inadequate to generate funds on the scale we are going to need in order to do our part in supplying the nation's future energy requirements."

Swearingen said Standard's first-quarter earnings total $239 million, and that the quarterly dividend rate went up to 80 cents a share from the 67 cents a year ago.

The demonstrators, many of whom carried neatly printed protest signs, remained outside the building until the hour-long meeting of stockholders ended.

There were no confrontations between the demonstrators and stockholders at either the beginning or end of the meeting.

As the session began, two demonstrators and a man slipped into the building.

Local members are also making plans to attend a church convention at Idaho Falls on Sunday. Delegates are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crothers and Mrs. R. G. Neher.

"FIGHTING MAD," 1,000 demonstrators picketed the stockholder meeting of Standard Oil of Indiana Thursday. Most of the demonstrators were from CHOPP, Clergy and Householders Opposed to Petroleum Profiteering. (UPI)

CHOPP demonstrators

They said they wanted the oil companies to pay a fair share of federal and local taxes; to get a federal investigation into possible anti-trust violations to keep oil companies from buying influence with political contributions; and to halt the oil companies' campaign against federal regulation of fuel oil prices.

The demonstration was organized by a group called CHOPP — Clergy and Householders Opposed to Petroleum Profiteering.

Filer wins dairy judging title

BUHL — The Filer High School Future Farmers of America team took first place in the West Magic Valley District dairy cattle judging competition here Thursday.

About 70 top dairy cattle judges from 11 west Idaho Valley FFA District clubs crowded around the fence at the Jun Tonne Dairy west of Buhl Thursday morning to test their knowledge of the qualities of good dairy cattle.

Four classes of cattle were judged at the Tonne Dairy and also at French's Dairy, Buhl.

Winning second place in team points was the Jerome team. Buhl captured third place. Hagerman grabbed fourth and Carey took fifth.

Steve Ridley, Filer, won first place in individual competition. Randy McCoy, Castleford, took second.

Although the majority of competitors were boys, Debbie Shewmaker, Jerome, struck a blow for the girls by taking third place. Dwight French, Buhl, took fourth, and Randy Stoker, Buhl, took fifth.

When one cow became tired of the show and leaped a fence to join her companions.

With the chief of chapter advisors and several other students, the cow was finally brought back to the pen.

CSI vo-tech bids cleared

Taylor told the council that CSI is currently spending $100,000 a year in rent for facilities in the Twin Falls area to handle the requirements for vocational technical education. CSI had nearly 1,160 students enrolled in vocational courses, he said.

He added the proposed building will have facilities for about 300 more students, or about 1,450.

The building was funded by the legislature in two separate phases. The 1973 legislature made available $550,000 for the first phase construction. When plans were drawn up, the building, college officials ordered them made up so the building could be built in two parts, as well.

But when this year's legislature appropriated the remaining $1.6 million from surplus funds, Taylor decided to ask for permission to build the building in one project.

Sen. Warren Brown, R-McCall, said the state had a responsibility to move as rapidly as possible in building vocational facilities because of an existing shortage of state-owned facilities.

He asked Taylor whether the school had sufficient dormitory space in house students attending school at CSI. Taylor responded that new apartment houses had made student housing plentiful, although there was a problem with accommodations for married students.

CSI's president said after his appearance before the council he didn't anticipate asking the 1975 legislature for building funds for any project on campus.

Dr. Edward Heay, Superintendent of the State

School for the Deaf and Blind, said the new structure on that campus would "house" classrooms for blind youngsters and those who are both deaf and blind. In addition, he said, there will be living quarters for several students.

The original legislative appropriations to the school was higher than the $385,000 projected for the new structure, but Heay said about $100,000 had already been authorized and spent to expand a storage area at the school's dining facility.

The council also gave the go-ahead to Boise State University for several construction projects, including one to increase the seating capacity at Bronco Stadium. But the council might clear if it wants the state board of education to approve whatever work is planned.

See McCulloch's new village-resort... Woodside!

To appreciate Woodside, you should see it — experience its superb location and hear the plans made for it by McCulloch, the London Bridge people.

As a substitute for this, however, we asked an artist to draw a picture of life at Woodside — because development is just beginning.

Of course, the above sketch is only one of the pictures he drew, because tennis is just one of the sports activities to be provided by the new $1-million Racquet Club complex that will be completed by the end of 1976. It will be maintained by membership fees, and Woodside property owners will be eligible for reduced annual dues.

Obtain the HUD Property Report from developer and read it before signing anything. HUD neither approves the merits of the offering nor the value of any of the property.

Imagine having a home apartment, duplex or condominium at Woodside for your own family hide-away. But better still, come see the property at Woodside. And hear the whole Woodside story. Woodside property is available now at attractive prices, with excellent terms. Investigate this unusual opportunity today.

The Woodside Wellness Center is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. At the north end of the property on U.S. Highway 93 in Valley, Idaho across from the airport.

Raids prove there are still some dumb cops

WASHINGTON — Two consecutive bouts with the flu have caused me to come late to what surely will be right up there when ballots are cast for Democratic of the Year, the Collinsville Raids. They made front pages last year when it appeared that narcotics agents and police in Collinsville, Ill., had run amok in a scandalous abuse of police powers.

They entered six homes on the nights of April 19 and 23, 1973. They acted without warrants and found no illicit drugs in the homes.

Two of the victims, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Giglio, told about their night of terror on a TV show. The Giglios and another victim, Dehald

ANDREW TULLY

Askev, testified before a Senate subcommittee chaired by Sen. Charles Percy, D-Ill.

Their stories were that the lawmen had forced their way into their homes, and generally abused them. John Meiners of Edwardsville, Ill., told reporters agents held him in a St. Louis jail for 77 hours without filing charges against him.

Well, sirs and madames, they finally got around to trying the seven federal agents, and three find enough money, but the national fertility statistics that means, dropped in 1973 to 1.9 children per family (have you ever tried to raise nine teeth of a little boy?) and that there were 3,141,000 births last year, the lowest since 1945.

Also, officials tell us that if the trend of more sex and fewer babies goes on like this, the population of the United States will "level off" to "zero growth" sometime in the first half of the 21st century.

On the whole, this is good news. Already we are producing more people than we can understand or govern, and our mental growth obviously leveled off long ago. Our bodies are running ahead of our minds and while our record is better than most nations, we cannot find enough money, but the national fertility statistics that means, dropped in 1973 to 1.9 children per family (have you ever tried to raise nine teeth of a little boy?) and that there were 3,141,000 births last year, the lowest since 1945.

So apparently the people have decided to adjust themselves to the government, which is a switch. All the other government tables are going up prices, unemployment, interest rates, crime, even rape (which is odd considering the availability of sex), but the population index is going down.

The interesting thing about this, of course, is not the statistics but the philosophy, not whether this is a good or a bad thing but why? George Gallup suggests some of the reasons for the

I found, I heard him right, that the topic of work, married or otherwise, was old stuff.

The trend toward smaller families and even toward planned spinsterhood—these are the nightmare of doubling the population every 40 years and thus the problem of planning and governing life a lot easier.

And yet there may be a paradox in the current trend. For the young seem to be longing for something to believe in these days.

One day, the government statisticians may expose the effort to measure the growth of happiness. Meanwhile, the latest figures are reassuring: If we can't handle the people we've got, why double the problem?

Stallie, Meiners' spokesman. No search warrants were required, said the defense, because the purpose was to arrest suspects, not discover dope.

The cops' attorneys also produced evidence that showed that persons in four of the six homes entered were convicted on drug charges as a result of the investigation. Pamela Jitto, one of the occupants in the dealers' homes, testified her common-law husband was a cocaine dealer confined to a federal prison.

Herbert Giglio didn't take the stand. The prosecution admitted that something in his past might hurt his credibility; informed speculation was that he had a police record. Askev told the court the officers were in his home only a few minutes and treated him with politeness.

The law also seemed to be on the defendants' side. A law officer may enter a home without a warrant if he has probable cause to believe that a crime is about to be committed, or that a felon is inside. Another section of the U. S. Code makes it a misdemeanor for a policeman to search a private dwelling without a warrant—but there are three exceptions. The defense emphasized one, when an officer is arresting a person suspected on reasonable grounds of having committed a felony.

In short, the Collinsville Raids were a national scandal only until the case reached a courtroom. The raiders did blunder into the Giglio and Askev homes, and they now are liable to damage judgments against them. They went to Meiners' home seeking his roommate; we should hear more about Meiners' charge of being detained illegally.

But the raids were hardly what my ultra-liberal colleagues at the time called an example of the vicious and unconstitutional operations of a police state.

Instead, they showed that there are some dumb cops in the country who should be kept after school until they learn how to cross the street without a seeing eye dog.

Wendell schools need bond OK

Wendell school patrons will have a chance to build for their community's future Tuesday.

Wendell voters have been asked to approve issuing $905,000 in bonds to finance a major elementary classroom, vocational and physical education construction program.

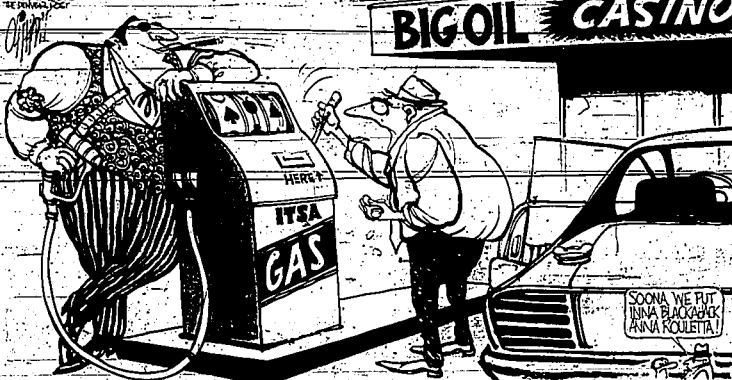

The bonds, if approved by a two-thirds vote, would build four grade-school classrooms, vocational agriculture and industrial arts shops, and a physical education complex on a 40-acre site three blocks east of the high school.

The proposal is changed substantially from two earlier building programs which had stressed junior-high school additions rather than elementary classes.

Hopefully the new proposal is one Wendell voters can support.

The past year has been a good one for schools throughout Magic Valley. School bond issues have been proposed and approved in a half-dozen districts by voters who have decided the schools deserve high levels of community support.

There is hope the same kind of community spirit will bring enough voters to the polls Tuesday to give the Wendell schools some badly needed help.

Inquiry demands keep White House staff fuming

(c) Chicago Daily News

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is reportedly prepared to assert "enough is enough" to the House Judiciary committee and possibly to the American people as he agonizes over his next move in the impeachment inquiry.

Already faced with a Tuesday deadline of a House subpoena for Watergate tapes and documents, the President and his aides were described as fuming over the impeachment inquiry staff asking for additional material.

For the first time Monday, the White House revealed that the President himself had taken charge of his defense strategy in response to the House subpoena on April 14 for material relating to 42 conversations in a period between Feb. 20 and April 18, 1973.

He has been in frequent touch with his chief Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair and White House Counsel J. Fred Buzhardt in recent days, as well as spending a good deal of time alone, determining his reply to the Judiciary committee.

PETER LISAGOR

White House spokesmen did nothing to discourage accounts that the President would cling to his position that he would remain the judge of relevance in what would be yielded to the House Committee, as well as to Special

Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who has served a subpoena on the President with a May 2 due date.

Neither the committee nor Jaworski will accept the White House dictum that Nixon will be the sole judge of what to produce in evidence.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., has leaped into the controversy with the release of a letter from Jaworski supporting Percy's contention that the White House is violating an understanding that it would give the special prosecutor anything he requested.

Percy was given the understanding by White House Chief of Staff Alexander Haig last November, according to the Senator's aides. On March 14 when the White House appeared to be backing Percy wrote Haig and asked him about the assurances given in November.

Haig replied in a letter which acknowledged an understanding, but said a compromise would be necessary and, in effect, the President and his lawyers would decide what material would be supplied to Jaworski.

Disclosure that the House will seek more material came from an erstwhile Nixon supporter on the Judiciary committee, Rep. Edward Hutchinson, of Michigan, the ranking Republican. Hutchinson's statement to Jaworski provoked the "enough is enough" reaction in the White House, according to top presidential aides.

Nixon is expected to provide the committee with edited transcripts of the tapes requested, omitting what the White House considers irrelevant or confidential. This is not expected to satisfy the committee or any of the President's critics, who insist that a potential defendant cannot be allowed to determine what evidence is relevant, especially in so grave a matter as an impeachment proceeding.

Conservatives lose chance as debate flops

At Yale University the other night Professor William Shockley was to debate with William Rusher of National Review, the whole business of Negro psychometric inferiority and what should be done about it.

What should be done about it, in the opinion of Professor Shockley, is something on the order of genetic manipulation, for the purpose of improving the human species.

You would use sperm banks, contributed by the brightest men, destined to impregnate the brightest women around; and before too long we would all be sounding like Albert Einstein.

This is a drastic compression of Shockley's position, and it has some of the words wrong, never mind — because the music is right. Doctor Shockley is the complete liberal. His judgments are scientific and his values are, well, derived from empirical conclusions.

What happened at Yale is generally known. The debaters stood on the platform for 75 minutes during which the audience jeered and booed and hissed. Finally, Shockley being brighter than a lot of other people, realized that to adapt slightly what they used to say in the sulfur fogs gone by, there ain't no Shockley coin to speak here tonight.

The role of Yale University was ambivalent. On the one hand, President Kingman Brewster, begged undergraduate organizations not to invite Shockley to the campus. Not so much because Shockley's appearance would result in disorder. He put it differently, straining how obvious are the doctrines of Doctor Shockley, and how offensive to the racial minority of black students at Yale.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

And then also, to stress Doctor Shockley's disqualifications. Brewster noted that he is not a trained geneticist. Shockley is somewhat difficult to handle because he got a Nobel Prize for something, or other having to do with transistors. At Stanford University, they have refused to permit Shockley to teach a course on his new enthusiasm under the auspices of the biology department, citing his lack of professional credentials.

The scandal, my friend, is of a different order. It was not widely noted by the press that Shockley's opponent, this time around, was not scheduled to be one of those liberal Ashley-Montague types who are put up against Shockley mostly for the purpose of delivering doctrinaire defenses against the validity of his preliminary findings on the matter of variations of intelligence. The trouble with these liberal types is they always persuade the audience up against the figures adduced by Shockley.

And when they fail at a technical level, there goes the ball game. If in fact it is proved that scientific conclusions, that there is a disparity between average Negro intelligence and that of whites, the consequence for liberal egalitarian dogma would be nothing short of catastrophic. Their cosmology would fall.

But this would not be the case for those whose values are Christian and whose belief is in metaphysical equality. Shockley would probably win a debate with Ashley Montague. Up against William Rusher, however, he would be slaughtered. Because Rusher would focus not on the inexactitude of Shockley's findings, but on their irrelevancy. And, as regards his prescriptions, he would say simply that they are neo-burglar. By which I mean that they are the twentieth century equivalent of the pagan infanticide by which a society regulated, to its own satisfaction, the male female ratio of the population.

What was obviously proved at Yale is that Shockley cannot see a fair trial at the hands of Kingman Brewster.

What was incidentally lost at Yale was the opportunity to show that only true conservatives can dispose with confidence of the Shockley menace.

General tax cut likely, but pay may not change

Friday, April 26, 1974 Times News, Twin Falls, Idaho 5

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate is likely to pass a general tax cut for all Americans within the next few weeks, but no one should begin counting on bigger pay checks too soon.

Many factors, both economic and political, must come together within the next few months to produce a tax cut, and even if lower taxes are written into law, most taxpayers won't see any significant difference in their income.

Even the pressures of an election year are no guarantee that the more fiscally conservative House will go along with the Senate.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, holds the major key to any tax cut. He alone could block consideration of it against all but the most overwhelming odds. But his approval it would be difficult for other House members to vote against something as popular as a decrease in the taxes of the American voter.

"Mills isn't saying yet which way he is leaning."

"I don't think we can make any decision until June or July when we see which way the economy is going," Mills said.

An upturn in economic activity over the next few months probably would kill any idea of a tax decrease, because the avowed purpose of the sponsors is to stimulate economic activity, which declined during the first three months of this year.

Decreasing taxes — and thereby pumping money into the economic bloodstream — would be inflationary during a time of economic growth. It is the inflation argument that the administration uses in opposing a tax cut.

"We just fed a tax cut at this time would be highly inflationary," William Simon, nominated as the new treasury secretary, told the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday.

Even if the economy remains sluggish, a tax cut would not help, Simon said. He argued the economic turnaround was brought about by energy shortages and food shortages, something a tax cut would not help.

Even some Senate liberals go along with this argument, including Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and William Proxmire, D-Wis. Proxmire said a tax cut now "would be a tragic and foolish economic policy."

But Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn.; Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.; Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and other Senate liberals apparently have the votes to pass the tax slice in the Senate. Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., a conservative, conceded Wednesday that the Senate probably would pass the bill because "the Senate passes everything."

On the floor will be a Kennedy-Mondale amendment combining provisions of separate tax bills proposed by the two men. They plan to attach the tax cut as a rider to a minor tariff bill which has already been passed by the House. It would then be up to Mills and other House leaders whether they would want to go to conference with the Senate on the minor bill and hammer out some compromise tax decrease. The Ways and Means Committee also is about to go into general tax reform legislation to which the committee could develop its own version of a tax cut.

The Kennedy-Mondale amendment would increase the personal income tax exemption from $750 to $825 for the taxpayer and each of his dependents. The taxpayer also could elect to take a tax credit of $100 instead of the personal exemption. This would be a break for lower income taxpayers who would gain as little as $10.50 in actual tax savings from the personal exemption.

For most taxpayers, however, the extra exemption would amount to less than $1 a week in actual extra income for each member of his family. Liberals are convinced that the extra money pumped into the economy nations die would stimulate the economy through consumer demand, as Humphrey put it.

Kenneth R. Cole, Nixon's domestic affairs adviser, replied that a tax cut would not help the economy, he said. Measures that would help the economy were tied up in a Democratic-controlled Congress.

Humphrey, on the other hand, blamed the administration.

"For generations economists have claimed that a high rate of inflation could not exist side by side in our economy with a drop in economic activity, high levels of unemployment and high interest rates," Humphrey said. "The Nixon administration has clearly proved that, with its economic policies, you can have all of this bad news at the same time."

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Small meals avoid low blood sugar

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My recent diagnosis of fainting spells, after sugar tolerance and other tests, was hypoglycemia, or low blood sugar.

About 15 years ago I had a subtotal gastrectomy (one-third of the stomach remaining). Will this aggravate my problem? I am 64 and still enjoy part-time work and driving, but these spells and weakness are annoying and dangerous.

Mrs. H. R. The stomach surgery can aggravate your problem of low blood sugar; it may indeed have been to a considerable extent the cause of it. Although of course low blood sugar troubles can and do affect a good many patients who have not had such surgery.

The trouble can, it is known, occur in patients after removal of part of the stomach. This is the explanation: the motility (activity and movement) of the stomach can be increased so that food passes through the stomach more quickly.

It is also possible to have "dumping syndrome," in which the contents of the stomach are "dumped" into the intestine so rapidly that symptoms of weakness, flushing, giddiness can occur — all characteristic of episodes of low blood sugar.

In other words, there is not time for the nutritional elements of the food to be extracted in the stomach. The trick in avoiding this trouble is to have frequent, small feedings (highly protein, low in starches and sugar, take care to drink fluids with the food, but wait for an hour or so afterward before having fluids).

Except for that last item about the fluids — you will note that principle is the same as for hypoglycemia, in which the stomach surgery is not involved.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In a book we call "Order at School" there was a question, "When a female child is a virgin or not" and the answer given was no.

The article said that some girls are born without the tissue that is involved, or the tissue is so hard it could not be broken, so the doctor could not tell if she had sex before marriage.

I am 18 and thought I knew the answer for sure until I read this. I asked my mother and she feels the same way I do, and that is, yes, you can tell if she is still a virgin. But my mother told me to write and ask you — because you're a doctor and we are not. — P. V.

The book you read is correct.

The hymen is a perforated membrane near the entrance to the vagina — varies greatly in texture. If it is fragile it can easily be broken, in early childhood even, so the fact that it has been broken simply is not evidence that the girl is not a virgin.

It is occasionally a hymen is so tough that it is necessary to go to a physician to have it opened. That, however, is not a common problem. And it is easily corrected.

I am 18 and thought I knew the answer for sure until I read this. I asked my mother and she feels the same way I do, and that is, yes, you can tell if she is still a virgin. But my mother told me to write and ask you — because you're a doctor and we are not. — P. V.

The book you read is correct.

Solution ignored

Editor Times-News: Inflation is continuing to rise and the discussion by Americans, but nowhere has the real solution been mentioned. Essentially, inflation is simply an increase in the money supply brought about by the printing of money by the government without regard to any increase in actual productivity which may have occurred, or any standard of living value. The principal cause of inflation is the financing by the federal government. Rising prices and wages are the result not the cause of inflation. Inflation is the result of the federal government's printing of money and gold or silver backing of our currency, but both Sen. Frank Church and Congressmen Orval Hansen have a long record of voting for federal programs which cost more than tax revenues provide.

Senator Church got headlines for the theftiness of voting against a $3.1 billion Congressional pay raise, but what about the $33.4 billion included in bill number H. R. 8877 Church voted for. All of the activities in this bill, by any careful reading of the Tenth Amendment of the United States Constitution, are unconstitutional. Church gave us more tax misery and higher inflation, as he voted for S. 1159, the Manpower Revenue Sharing bill that cost $1.88 billion. Job training is a function which properly belongs to private business.

Congressman Hansen supported H. R. 8860 which provided food stamps for voluntary strikers. He voted against H. R. 8489 a bill which would have shaved federal spending by $2.7 billion and he also voted against private ownership of gold which would be a hedge against inflation.

The spending spree, for both men adds up to huge federal deficits which is the real cause of our run-away inflation problem. Fortunately this year Idaho citizens will have the opportunity to vote these Socialist spendthrifts out of office.

MRS. AND MRS. ADRIAN L. ARP
Twin Falls

Editor's note: Rep. Hansen did vote for H. R. 8860, but the bill expressly prohibited providing food stamps for strikers. However, Rep. Hansen did support amendments which would have removed the exemption and voted to support the final Omnibus Farm Bill, a Senate bill, which included no prohibition for food stamps to strikers.

Impeach panel probers check into 37 matters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The legal staff of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry Thursday narrowed its list of potential charges against President Nixon from 56 to 37.

Special Counsel John M. Dour said some of the other 19 allegations have been found upon investigation to be baseless — some have been assigned a low priority, but not dropped.

Here are the 37 remaining high-priority matters under investigation:

Lisbon junta head pledges elections

LISBON (UPI) — Gen. Antonio de Spínola, head of Portugal's new military junta, promised today to call elections "in the shortest possible time" after ending four decades of rightwing dictatorship in Portugal.

The reform-minded Spínola, who led the military coup against Premier Marcelo Caetano, said this morning the seven-member junta would "facilitate free elections" for a new president and members of parliament.

The 63-year-old general told a nationwide television audience that the junta intended to "task dynamically so that the country can be governed by freely chosen institutions in the shortest possible time."

The new military leaders indicated the junta intended to keep Portugal's embattled African territories, but left the door open for a change in status to what helped touch off the coup.

The rebels, calling themselves the Armed Forces Movement, reported virtually all pockets of resistance eliminated by Thursday night, winding up a day-long uprising that began with 200-400 arm takeovers of a radio station in Lisbon.

Thousands of demonstrators mostly young — roamed the capital after the coup in victory celebrations, dancing in the streets, blowing car horns and buying rebel soldiers champagne.

Witnesses said about two dozen rebels were killed in attacks by dehard security police firing from rooftop police stations until late in the evening.

The 4-year-old Caetano government, headed at the daybreak headquarters of the paramilitary Republican Guards in the afternoon when rebel troops briefly shelled the building and tried to smash through the gates with a tank.

Voters prefer Demos

NEW YORK (UPI) — Voters are swinging in a pro-Democratic mood for congressional elections next fall, a new survey of public opinion by the University of Michigan said Thursday.

The survey of 1,144 prospective voters, made in late March, found 52 per cent planned to vote for Democrats, compared with 29 per cent for Republicans. Nineteen per cent were not sure. It was the largest Democratic lead ever recorded in congressional tests and larger than any actual election results since the 1930s, Harris said.

To the question of whether voters were less likely to vote for Republicans because of Watergate, 38 per cent said they were. Harris called this an unusually high admission rate because traditionally voters are reluctant to say that one issue determines their vote.

Fifty-three per cent of those polled said Watergate made no real difference.

Questions on taxes in writing

(C) New York Times Service. JACKSON, Miss. — The House Judiciary Committee is preparing to send written questions to President Nixon to determine if "criminal fraud" was involved in the massive deductions claimed by the President on his federal income tax returns from 1969 through 1972.

The plan to ask the President for an accounting of the $44,000 in total deductions for his annual gift of vice-presidential papers to the National Archives was disclosed in a report to the committee from the staff of the impeachment inquiry.

Albert E. Jenner Jr., the committee's chief Republican counsel, told newsmen the questions would "explore whether there is any criminal fraud on the part of the President."

impeachment. In addition to the crowd in the Mississippi Coliseum, several thousand who were turned away stood outside in the bright sunlight and greeted the President and Mrs. Nixon when they arrived. Seated on the stage behind the President as he spoke were the two Mississippi Senators whose votes and influence could be crucial to Nixon should the House representatives vote for impeachment and the case go to the Senate for trial — James O. Eastland, chairman of the judiciary committee, and John C. Stennis, chairman of the armed forces committee; and one of the most influential men in Congress.

Nixon's 40-minute speech was before the annual session of the Mississippi Economic Council, State Chamber of Commerce, but the occasion was clearly one designed to demonstrate that the President was not in this region. The council moved its luncheon to the coliseum and provided free tickets for several thousand to fill the balconies around the speaker's stand.

The President was greeted by applause on entering the hall and Gov. William L. Waller shipped up enthusiasm in a glowing introduction. Nixon, Waller said, came to the state's aid — with federal assistance — during the hurricanes, floods and tornadoes and he gave the President credit for ending "violence in our streets and on our campuses" and for working to end the cold war with Russia and China.

The President's speech was largely one that has become standard in his current campaign. Predicting an upturn in the economy, Nixon said:

"I see the year 1974 at the end — and now it is very difficult for us to look that far ahead — but at the end we will look back and say 1974 was not our best year, as were 1973 and 72, but it was a good year. I will say, and

I will flatly predict that '75 will be a very good year and I say today that '76, the 200th anniversary year for America, will be the best year in America's history, the most prosperous, the most free.

Looking to the future, Nixon said that at the end of this century, this nation will be strong materially and spiritually.

Senators seek waiver ruling reversal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Warren E. Magnuson, D-Wash., and Frank Church, D-Idaho, have called on the Nixon administration to reverse within two days a decision not to allow badly needed fertilizer to reach Pacific Northwest wheat fields this summer.

The request Wednesday came at the end of 2 1/2 hours of emergency hearings by the Senate Commerce Committee, which Magnuson chairs.

During the hearing testimony was heard from both administration officials and fertilizer producers regarding a proposed waiver of the federal statute which has been interpreted to prevent the shipment of large quantities of anhydrous ammonia fertilizer from Alaska to the Pacific Northwest.

The statute, known as the Jones Act, prevents the shipment of goods between U.S. ports by other than U.S. vessels.

The waiver requested by Magnuson, Church, and several other Northwest lawmakers would authorize a limited shipment of anhydrous ammonia between Alaska and the Northwest.

"The administration can make the waiver if it wants to," said Magnuson, adding, "The Secretary of the Treasury, who is responsible for such decisions, has ample justification for making the waiver."

Washington's senior senator said since the enactment of the Jones Act in 1920, there have been no waivers granted by the Treasury Department.

"Our request for a very limited waiver for a short period of time, certainly meets the requirement that any waiver granted be in the interest of national defense because nearly 90 percent of this year's crop will be exported to foreign markets," Church said.

"With a stroke of the pen the administration could solve this needless fertilizer shortage and all of the damaging consequences that will occur without a waiver."

"In denying Northwest farmers access to additional supplies of fertilizer, how can the administration hope to achieve maximum production of its so-called main crop, grain, by then letting it demonstrate its good faith by putting essential fertilizer in the hands of Idaho farmers," said Church.

Sen. James McClure, warned that farmers could lose their chance to buy fertilizer from Alaska if congress does not act immediately.

Meet 'productive'

PHARR, Tex. (UPI) — A meeting called in an effort to avoid a national trucking shutdown May 13, was productive despite boozing of a transportation department official by some angry truckers, an organizer said Wednesday.

Millard Holden, a Rio Grande Valley truck broker and president of the Independent Produce Haulers of America (IPHA), said his group would continue working with the transportation department to solve complaints on which the proposed strike is based.

A large meeting of 300 truckers from across the nation Tuesday night, John W. Snow, an assistant secretary of the Department of Transportation, was met with boos and catcalls when he said the administration refuses to roll back the price of diesel fuel.

However, Holden said the IPHA, composed of 28 truck brokers who employ between 1,000 and 5,000 truckers who transport valuable shipments of vegetables and citrus, realized changes to benefit truckers "take a little time" and was willing to continue its discussions with the federal government.

Demand lacking for development

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government efforts to promote economic development in rural areas have been slowed by the lack of strong, organized public demand for projects in the field, an administration official says.

William Erwin, assistant secretary of agriculture for rural development, told a newspaper farm editors the agency believes it has a "good record" in complying with a 1972 law designed to promote economic and population growth in rural areas.

Erwin said more could be done if the development policy had a militant clientele.

"When you see wheat go up, the bankers get militant. When wheat goes down, the wheat farmers get militant," Erwin said.

"But when you get into the huge area of rural development, when you're dealing with something that has produced a mass migration of 28 million people, you still haven't almost a militant attitude," the official lamented.

We need a stronger, militant support base to back up the things rural development can do for this country," Erwin said.

Frank Troutman, staff director of the Congressional Rural Caucus, told the editors that lawmakers interested in Off-road rules effective May 15

BOISE (UPI) — William L. Matthews, Idaho state director for the Bureau of Land Management, today announced that the use of off-road vehicles on public lands will become effective May 15.

Matthews said the regulations will apply to all lands administered by the BLM.

He explained that the regulations will provide procedures to control and direct the use of off-road vehicles to protect public land resources, promote safety and reduce conflict among various public land users.

Regulations will also establish operating rules and vehicle standards for off-road vehicle use on public land, he said. Areas and trails will be designated as open, closed or restricted.

No crisis for USSR
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite press reports from the Soviet Union that lower than expected spring crop sowings signal "another agricultural crisis" for the USSR this year, the Agriculture Department emphasized here that the spring figures "definitely do not" mean a crisis.

Deputy Assistant Agriculture Secretary Richard L. Bell told CNS the crisis cited by a reported 20.9 million acre spring crop sowing announcement do not take into account the fact that 1973 spring plantings were extraordinarily high because of 1972 winter plantings were small and late due to drought during that period.

The 1973 spring plantings of 107.2 million, therefore, should not be a mark against which 1974 plantings are compared and a crisis called, Bell said.

Bell pointed out that the Soviet publication Izvestia always reports plantings on page one of its issues and that press reports amplifying the story was higher than usual news by being on "page one" are exaggerated.

Broader coverage on labor

SEATTLE — An additional 31,000 Idaho workers are now covered by a minimum wage under recent amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act.

US Department of Labor regional director, James G. Hughes said about 179,000 out of 272,000 workers in Idaho presently are covered by the federal wage standards.

For farm workers covered prior to 1966 amendments, the current $1.60 an hour minimum will be increased to $2 an hour on Jan. 1, 1975; $2.20 an hour on Jan. 1, 1976, and $2.30 an hour on Jan. 1, 1977.

For non-farm workers covered by the 1966 amendments, the law will establish minimum wages of $1.90 an hour on May 1, 1974; $2 an hour on Jan. 1, 1975; $2.20 an hour on Jan. 1, 1976, and $2.30 on Jan. 1, 1977.

For farm workers the current 1.20 an hour minimum wage will be increased to $1.60 on May 1, 1974; to $1.80 on Jan. 1, 1975; to $2.00 on Jan. 1, 1976; to $2.20 on Jan. 1, 1977 and to $2.30 an hour on Jan. 1, 1978.

Over 1.5 million private household workers will be covered by the wage-hour law for the first time.

Nationally, over 1.6 million federal employees and almost 3.4 million state and local government workers will be newly covered.

Blankets are also high on the list, says Carl E. Guenther, secretary of SAWS.

In Xenia, Ohio, Adventist relief units from heady Kettering Medical Center, from Mount Vernon, Ohio, and from Pittsburgh, Pa., were on the scene as soon as the devastation was known. Gas.

The economical replacement.

When your present water heater needs replacing, we want you to consider changing to gas water heating. It's still the most economical method of heating water and gas water heating is also an efficient use of energy for that purpose. From a convenience standpoint, gas is tops. A 40-gallon model will heat 34 gallons an hour compared to only 48 gallons an hour for its electrical counterpart.

In Idaho we have gas to burn, but we want to burn it wisely. Gas water heating is highly efficient in terms of cost and conservation of energy.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband works out of town three days a week. He takes $80 expense money with him on each trip. Every weekend he comes home complaining "that he couldn't afford to eat and went to bed hungry when he was away." I suggested he take more expense money but he refuses, saying he won't need more, but he goes right on complaining.

When we have an argument he goes for days—sometimes weeks—without speaking. I prepare his meals as usual, but he refuses to eat at home. Instead he goes to a restaurant and then complains to anyone who will listen to him that I won't "feed" him. Right now there is a roast dinner, homemade bread, cake and cookies drying out in the kitchen while he is eating in a restaurant!

Abnormal behavior

What is wrong with him? He was married before, and, according to him, his ex-wife didn't feed him either. He is not underweight, and he doesn't have a tapeworm.

Any advice you can give me will be appreciated. He may not be "fed up" but I am. HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: For opens it would appear that your husband has a long history of abnormal behavior. He is obsessed with the notion that he is being "starved" by the women in his life whose duty he feels it is to "feed" him. He needs professional help but unless he admits and seeks it, he's destined to go in his paranoid, obsessive way.

DEAR ABBY: You wrote in reply to Rusty who wanted to know if that picture accompanying your column was really you. "That picture is me!"

Are you right? Should I have written "That picture is I"? Or is it I who am wrong? KENNETH L.

DEAR KENNETH: You are right. The picture is I, but I, who you think is wrong. (And right now I am so confused, I don't know if you are wrong or I.)

DEAR ABBY: I'll get right to the point. Should I marry for love or money? I'm a 24-year-old woman and have a choice. LOVE OR MONEY

DEAR L: Whatever turns you on. Some people are more turned on by money than they are by love. You don't get a lifetime guarantee with either. In respect they're alike. They're both wonderful as long as they last.

The nine-spade Tennessee would play an unexpected dividend this time. South would win on trump instead of six.

What if West goes south's back off the second heart lead? In that case South would win, return to his hand, take the queen trumps and still make seven.

Here is another safety play by a small slam contract. Once more seven spades would have been a good contract. Since it would be on against any 3-2 break in hearts or against a singleton jack or 10 of hearts held by East.

A careless South would draw trumps and take 10 hearts from the top. East would show out on the second heart, and our careless friend would play the rest of the hand carefully but most unsuccessfully. Assuming that his opponents defended reasonably well.

A careful South would note that the contract was six, not seven. When he got around to playing the hearts he would

Symms scores new law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Freshman Rep. Steven D. Symms, R-Idaho, charged Thursday that a new public land law requested by the House administration would have a "devastating" effect on Idaho and allow federal officials to use "police state tactics" in buying private land.

Symms, testifying before the House public lands subcommittee, was especially critical of the legislation's basic premise that public lands should generally be kept in federal ownership.

The Idaho Republican said a provision that would repeal the Desert Entry Act—under which about 1.4 million acres of public land has been brought into private hands since 1877—would "destroy any hope of orderly agricultural development" in Idaho.

The old law is almost unused today except in Idaho, where about 9,000 applications for some 150,000 acres of land are currently pending.

Under the 1955 century law, an individual can gain title to up to 160 acres of land suitable for irrigation for as little as $1.25 an acre.

That law and hundreds of other land laws—including the Old Homestead Act—would be wiped off the books by the new legislation.

CSI mechanics

TROUBLE shooters Elden Lyons, left, and Israel Vargas were in Pocatello Wednesday for competition in a special mechanics contest. The two College of Southern Idaho auto mechanics, working as a CSI team, competed in regional trouble shooting assignments and won first place in the written examination category for post-secondary schools.

35 first graders sign up in Shoshone

SHOSHONE—There will be about 35 first graders in Shoshone elementary school for the 1974-75 school year.

This is according to figures from the pre-school registration Monday which began at 8 a.m. under direction of teachers, Mrs. Wilson Churchman, Al Kristal, and Mrs. Al Kristal and Mrs. Lynn Stimpson.

Assisting with the testing were Tijuana Cochran, Dinah Heinze and Jeanine Buhler, all from the DECS Clinical Services in Twin Falls.

Local people who assisted included public health nurse Mrs. Zanie Alexander; Mrs. Mel Larraway, Jooy Crayton and Lucy Berriochon.

The students were tested for hearing, speech, vision, gross motor and fine motor coordination in addition to predictive reading and math.

Some of the students are being referred to the Child Development Center for more thorough testing, since the pre-school registration only included a screening in some areas.

Environmental workshop planned by university

SHOSHONE—The University of Idaho Environmental Workshop will be at Camp Alpine at Palisades Reservoir June 3-8.

Ron Groeger, county extension agent, said the workshop is open to high school youths who have completed their sophomore year or older.

The workshop is designed to help increase an understanding of the inter-relationship between environmental quality and the use of natural resources, including range, wildlife and forestry, and how these resources are managed for the benefit of all the people in Idaho.

Special recreational and learning activities are planned for all in attendance.

Fee for the workshop is $30. Several scholarships are available from sponsoring organizations. May 15 is the deadline for applications.

Further information and application blanks are available from the Lincoln County extension agent's office. Box 606 or telephone 855-2052.

BLISS — Two school trustees will be elected May 21 in the Bliss School District.
Nominating petitions are now available from the office of the superintendent of schools and may be returned any time prior to 5 p.m. May 18.
The vacancies are in trustee zone 1, where the incumbent is Sam Bishop, and trustee zone 2, where Sterling Bray is the current office holder.
The first zone covers the town of Bliss and the third zone the large northwest portion of the district.

Student injured

ONTARIO, Ore. (UPI) — City police looked today into an early Thursday morning traffic accident in which a Tregura Valley Community college student apparently drove his car into the TVCC gymnasium.
Officers said Herman Navarro, 19, was "resting comfortably" in a hospital following the accident.
"They said he apparently drove his car through the double doors of the gym, traveled across a mezzanine and knocked down a railing, then, they said, the vehicle struck a concrete abutment and fell 14 feet to the floor below."
A spokesman for TVCC estimated damage at $5,000.

Salary principles eyed

BOISE (UPI) — President John B. Barnes told the faculty senate at Boise State University that among equal salaries to professors of equal rank is a traditional departure in salary principle.
Barnes said he would not ask the State Board of Education to set aside money in the future for equalization and would not divide any general salary increase evenly among the faculty as the faculty has asked.

Trustees named

CALDWELL (UPI) — Harold E. Thomas and Mrs. Arthur Oppenheimer Jr., both Boise and State Sen. Philip E. Batt, R-Wilder, have been elected trustees of the College of Idaho.
Mrs. Oppenheimer is a Boise civic leader, Thomas is board chairman.

Council selects engineers

BOISE (UPI) — The initial start leading to the construction of a $17.5 million addition to the Capital Mall Utility Plant came Thursday with the appointment of an engineering firm to design the facility.
The Permanent Building Firm Advisory Council appointed CH2M Engineers of Boise — Corneli, Howland, Hayes and Merryfield — to design the plant. Funds for the project were appropriated by the state legislature.

Flood area checked

SALMON — Representatives of the Army Corps of Engineers inspected the area of the River Wednesday afternoon and indicated a gap of some 2,000 feet above the dike south of Salmon should be closed because of the near-record runoff anticipated this spring.
Charles Kane Sr., Lemhi County Commission chairman, Thursday drafted an official request to the Corps Walla Walla, Wash., that the work be undertaken immediately.
Inspecting the river here with Kane were Tom Tate and Kenneth Anderson, Corps engineers.

Interstate closed

COTTERILL — Interstate 80 was closed three miles south of here early Thursday night when blowing dust brought visibility of the highway to near zero.
According to Idaho State Police Trooper Dave Davis, the interstate was closed from about 9:15 p.m. until 11:15 p.m.
The closure, Davis said, followed several minor accidents in the dust-blown stretch between Cotterill and Shublet. There were no injuries, he said, but because of the poor visibility it was impossible for wreckers to remove damaged vehicles with traffic flowing over the highway.
Traffic was rerouted along the old highway as Streetview, Davis said, by the time the highway was opened the interstate had been cleared and reopened.

Murphy stays in Idaho race

By DAVID ESPO
Times News Staff Writer
BOISE — Republican Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy today retained his six-month-old candidacy for governor despite a painful back injury he suffered three weeks ago.
Murphy picked up a news conference to wage a "vigorous and forthright campaign" and he lashed out at incumbent Democratic Gov. Cecil B. Andrus' educational and fiscal policies over the past four years.
Murphy suffered his injury when he fell from a horse at his Shoshone home. Since then he has been consulting doctors who thought he had suffered a bad sprain.
He said Idaho "is approaching a crossroads of its lifestyle." He called for a balancing of resource development and environmental concerns.
"What Idaho is really faced with is a continued systematic development of this state, coupled with an intense review in each instance of its effect upon the environment and ecology," he said.
Murphy has been the sole announced Republican candidate for governor since last October. Since his injury, however, two other politicians have indicated an interest in the race. They are Rep. Vernon Ransavortz, R-Tuttle, and Glen Wegner, an unsuccessful primary candidate for the US Senate in 1972.
Ransavortz has said repeatedly he would not challenge Murphy's candidacy, but he has not said so in a public way.
Murphy, who served as the Idaho chairman of the Committee to Re-elect the President, dismissed the idea that he won't have a chance to run because the opposition will try to tie him to Watergate.
He said he served in the campaign because "I believed in the President's goals of peace, prosperity and progress."
The same sentiment linked Andrus with the 1972 Democratic Presidential Campaign of Sen. George McGovern when Murphy said "seemed to be acid, amnesty and abortion."
Murphy also attacked Andrus for "playing yo-yo with state finances," for failing to give public schools "a fair shake," and for some of his gubernatorial appointments.

Construction under way on 2 Rupert projects

By ED MITCHELL
Times News Staff Writer
RUPERT — Groundbreaking ceremonies for two new buildings were held Thursday morning in Rupert.
Minidoka County commissioners Jo Hillis and Lyle Barton officially opened the construction of the county judicial building on the north side of the courthouse lawn. City, county and construction company officials attended the ceremony.
The building will house courthouses, a law library and county offices at a cost of about $419,000. The project is entirely funded by federal revenue sharing money. Plans call for the building to match the city-unity law enforcement building.
A smaller ceremony took place an hour and a half later when the ground was broken for a new Project Mutual Telephone office building at the corner of Fifth and G streets across from the present telephone office building. Company officials and members of the board of directors were in attendance.
The new telephone building will be a two-level concrete masonry structure. It will accommodate offices, the commercial department and mobile repair units. The estimated cost of the building is $190,600, financed with an REA loan.
Both construction projects were awarded to Nelson and Co., Twin Falls. Projected completion date for the county judicial building is 300 days, and 180 days for the telephone company building. Construction work is expected to begin immediately on both projects.

Hazelton offices closed

Mayor Dryden's supporters questioned the legitimacy of petitions asking for his recall, saying they contained only about 20 signatures.
Christopherson's resignation, he found a second page of 17 signatures.
As for imputations of other council members signing the petition, Christopherson said he had no knowledge of any such action in Hazelton signed the petitions against the two other councilmen.
"The original petitions against Hensley and Hamilton stated they had refused to cooperate with the recall effort. In fact, the two have stated they do not believe their duty is to rubber stamp the mayor's position."
"We have been trying to do the best of our ability to serve the best interests of the people of Hazelton. It will now be up to the citizens of Hazelton to decide whether or not they want us recalled."
"We urge the residents to be very serious thought to the type of government they want for their city. If we are recalled, you have no voice in who will take our place. The mayor will appoint the council members," Hamilton and Hensley said in their joint statement.
If the mayor is recalled, they said a special election will be needed to name a new mayor who would select two councilmen to serve until the next regular election.

Jerome teachers, staff to get 7% pay increase

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times News Staff Writer
JEROME — Jerome school teachers and administrative staff will receive 7 percent pay increase.
The Jerome School Board, in a special meeting Thursday night, approved the increase plus a one-step increase in the salary schedule which provides teachers in the top of the scale with a 9 percent raise.
Several teachers met with the trustees to discuss the adopted salary schedule. Carson Wong, spokesman, told the board that all the teachers are asking is to be treated fairly and get "all the help the board can give them without jeopardizing other school programs."
Wong questioned why $15,000 was carried in this year's tentative budget for one elementary teacher and one secondary teacher.
"This cushion has been carried in the teacher's salary category for several years and has never been used," Wong said. He said that with the "cushion" listed among salaries, it appears that a higher percentage of the district's budget is going for salaries than actually is.
John Campbell, superintendent of schools, said the cushion is included in the present salary schedule to provide for future needs of the school term and has to be replaced by a higher paid teacher.
When the vote on the salary schedule was taken, chairman Lyle V. Orman and trustees Albert Chudacki and Jack Thomason voted yes, Mrs. Sigurd Hymas, trustee, voted no.
Mrs. Hymas continued that the teachers should be permitted more time to study the tentative budget and salary schedule.
The trustees granted the 7 percent salary increase to the administrative staff following a discussion of a proposed salary index schedule.
If the new schedule had been approved, it would have provided step increases for the administrative staff and would have also provided this year raises between 5 and 14 percent depending on the administrator's position on the schedule.
The plan was rejected and a straight 7 percent increase was given to all of the administrators.

Rail service Rupert topic

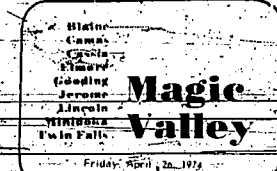

RUPERT — Amtrak service for southern Idaho was the topic of discussion at the Rupert Chamber of Commerce luncheon Thursday.
Roland J. Brining, special assistant to Gov. Andrus, outlined the governor's recent efforts to bring Amtrak passenger railroad service to Idaho.
The governor had requested consideration of an experimental Amtrak line from Ogden, Utah, to Portland, Ore., Brining said Andrus was "disappointed" in the refusal of Amtrak. Andrus proposed that the Pacific Northwest Regional Commission of which he is a co-chairman would underwrite two-thirds of any possible loss by Amtrak.
The letter of refusal from Amtrak representatives stated that even if losses were picked up, there was not enough equipment to run a passenger service as proposed. Brining said.
The governor now questions Amtrak's ability to conform to the legislative mandate, according to Brining. Amtrak is required by the legislation which set the agency up to select an experimental service line each year.
The board approved a request by school attorney Herman Bedke to delete a clause in the specific specifications which are sent to bidders for the school building. The clause stated that federal funds are involved in the construction which effectively limits bidding to contractors who already have an adequate public works license from the Idaho State Contractors Licensing Board, according to Bedke.
The board also approved a subcontracting agreement with the subject of a recent court case involving a bid by Mitchell Construction Co., Pocatello, for the junior high school project, Nielsen and Co., Twin Falls, was second low bidder for the job and objected when it was awarded to Mitchell.
The board decided a subcontractor in its b.i.d. who was not licensed adequately at the time the bids were opened. If the court had not ruled in favor of the school district and Mitchell, it would have cost the district nearly $90,000 to award the contract to Nielsen.
Bedke was authorized by the board to send a letter to the state licensing board objecting to the action at the time of the court case. He said the licensing board made bidding less competitive by its action as "fraternity" of contractors.
Plans for the renovation of Oakley High School were also approved. Bids for that project will be opened at the same time as for the elementary school.
A bid of $4,742 by Hazelton Mfg. Co. for a new maintenance department pickup was accepted. Three other local dealerships submitted bids.
The board opened the bid of Ace Milling and Fixture Co., Logan, Utah, for cabinetry work in the DeLoe Elementary School. Ace's bid of $11,849 was more than $5,000 under the two other

Gooding planning unit appoints 6

By PEGGY CHIU
Times News Staff Writer
GOODING — The Gooding County Planning Commission has appointed six Gooding county residents to serve on Wood River Resource Area Council of Government committees.
The appointments were announced at a planning commission meeting Thursday night. They include Allen Ravenscroft, Hagerman water, waterheds, rivers, canals committee; William B. Bransford, Hagerman, cropland, irrigation, range, woodland committee; Mrs. Pat Klinder, Gooding, economic, housing committee; transportation committee; Lawrence J. LaDue, Wendell, science, environment, research, education committee; Mrs. Dee Boyl, Bliss, social, health, sanitation, beautification committee.
Jack Varn was given a report on the authority of city and county planning committees. The state the state has granted the commissions to zone an island the commission should come up with a comprehensive plan or zoning ordinances which will be reasonable and will promote the health, safety and welfare of residents.

He warned the commission against entering areas which might be considered "blacking out" without just compensation when the comprehensive plan rules and regulations are drawn up.

The commission's principal power is to make recommendations to the county commission and to suggest rules and regulations needed "to enforce the comprehensive plan." He said the commission may also review plans and make recommendations, but the county commission has the final say on all county matters.
Wayne Matthews, chairman of the planning commission, read a letter from the Bureau of Land Management announcing plans to turn over the 1,000-acre area over to the Idaho State Parks and Recreation Department for inclusion in the Matlat State Park area.
The BLM had Oregon Trail markings and an old way station. The letter said barbed wire could be removed and grazing revoked this summer.

River above 5-foot mark

HAILEY — The Big Wood River has risen above the 5 foot mark.
Deputy Watermaster W. R. Fields said water would begin flowing a little at that mark. Wednesday the river was 5.6 feet, Thursday it was 5.7 and today's reading is 5.8 feet.
The threat of a dam and Bellevue are likely to overflow, said, according to Watts. The USGS after service has said flood is in a definite threat to these areas.

TF receives deputy funds

TWIN FALLS — County Commissioner Matt Leonard announced today the county has received a grant to continue the special range deputy program.
"In a meeting Thursday" with the Law Enforcement Planning Commission, Leonard and Sheriff Paul Oeder received assurance the commission will continue the $3,320 grant for the current year.
The state will be charged with $100,000 for a total of $8,816, Leonard said. This will cover the salary of an additional deputy and also maintenance on his pickup truck.
Last year the county added T. M. Kendrick, Buhl, to the staff to work with the Kibler, Twin Falls, range deputy. This provided a day and night watch on rangelands, recreation areas, summer horse areas and new farm lands on the Buhl, Hogue and Blue Gulch projects.
Sheriff Oeder said the program was expanded last year because of the many cattle thefts being reported by livestock owners. Good results have been obtained, he said, because the range officers are now able to change their hours and schedules to be in various places at varying times.

Jerome slaying victims buried

JEROME — Joint funeral services were held here Thursday for the three victims of a shotgun slaying April 22.
Funeral services were conducted at the Jerome Cemetery by Rev. Fred E. Nelson, 71, and his wife, daughter, Clara Irene Heugheba, 40, and Mrs. Joy L. Nelson, 50.
Charles Eldon Heugheba, 47, is being held in Jerome City jail without bail, charged with three counts of first degree murder. In connection with the slaying.
No date has been set for a preliminary hearing for Heugheba.
Mrs. Virginia Hicketta, county clerk, said she has been summoned by Magistrate Judge Russell Shedd; Eugene F. Frederickson, prosecuting attorney; and Phil Becker, Jerome, County public defender, in an effort to try and set a date for the preliminary hearing.
"Our court calendar is full for next week. We will be meeting again today to try and set a date for the preliminary hearing. Under Idaho law a preliminary hearing must be held within 10 days of arraignment unless the defense attorney waives the 10-day limit."

Peavey stresses lobbyists influence

SUN VALLEY — Idaho Sen. John Peavey said Wednesday the public should be made aware of lobbyists who try to influence votes.
Speaking before the Richman Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce, Peavey said he had planned to bid was defeated this year due in part to lobbying efforts staged by Boise Cascade, Morrison Knudsen and Associated Industries.
He is attempting to collect over 24,000 signatures for a combination campaign to discontinue anti lobby registration drive to the legislature.
He said Gov. Cecil Andrus, Sen. Frank Church and Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy endorsed the "Sunshine Initiative."
If it is passed Peavey said it would mean candidates who did not have to disclose all campaign contributions in excess of $50 and seriously each corporation a business would have to register his lobbyist.

"The lobbyist would have to disclose all the money he is spending on bills he is sponsoring," Peavey said.

Burley school bid opening date set

BURLEY — Bid opening date for the new Burley Elementary School was set at the Cassia County School Board meeting Wednesday night.
The board approved final working drawings for the school and named June 5 as bid opening date for the project. Final plans call for 20 "teaching stations" in the partitionless building instead of the 24 originally planned.
Rising construction costs forced the decision to cut back the school, but the district will be such that it can easily be enlarged later, according to William Richardson, architect for the school district.
A request will be made to the city of Burley to annex the 17-acre school site, which is being built south of city limits so that the city and police service will be easier to obtain. The school board will have to apply to the city zoning board for approval also, if the city annexes the area.

The board approved a request by school attorney Herman Bedke to delete a clause in the specific specifications which are sent to bidders for the school building. The clause stated that federal funds are involved in the construction which effectively limits bidding to contractors who already have an adequate public works license from the Idaho State Contractors Licensing Board, according to Bedke.
The board also approved a subcontracting agreement with the subject of a recent court case involving a bid by Mitchell Construction Co., Pocatello, for the junior high school project, Nielsen and Co., Twin Falls, was second low bidder for the job and objected when it was awarded to Mitchell.
The board decided a subcontractor in its b.i.d. who was not licensed adequately at the time the bids were opened. If the court had not ruled in favor of the school district and Mitchell, it would have cost the district nearly $90,000 to award the contract to Nielsen.

Bedeke was authorized by the board to send a letter to the state licensing board objecting to the action at the time of the court case. He said the licensing board made bidding less competitive by its action as "fraternity" of contractors.
Plans for the renovation of Oakley High School were also approved. Bids for that project will be opened at the same time as for the elementary school.
A bid of $4,742 by Hazelton Mfg. Co. for a new maintenance department pickup was accepted. Three other local dealerships submitted bids.
The board opened the bid of Ace Milling and Fixture Co., Logan, Utah, for cabinetry work in the DeLoe Elementary School. Ace's bid of $11,849 was more than $5,000 under the two other

Jerome school vote scheduled

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of articles on the Jerome school election.)

JEROME — Jerome school patrons will go to the polls April 30 to vote on a $3.1 million bond issue for a new four-year high school.

For the past two weeks over 100 volunteers have been going door to door in an effort to explain the bond issue.

A spokesman for the volunteers said the group has had mixed reaction from the people. "Some are for the bond issue and some are against it, and some don't even know a bond election is going to be held."

Mrs. Nancy Cannady, member of the Jerome Citizens for Better Education Committee which is working with the volunteers, said the main reason for the door to door canvass is to provide school patrons with a special brochure that explains the proposed bond issue.

She said anyone who has not been contacted and would like to be should call the superintendent's office and leave his name and address.

The site of the proposed four-year high school is one mile east of Jerome on the former Harold Gray property.

The Jerome School Board has secured an option on 40 acres of land bordering Highway 25 and the mile east road at a cost of $60,000. The site of the new school was selected after a citizen's committee was formed to evaluate several possible sites for the new school.

The Gray property, now owned by Drs. Wesley Rose and Charles Parker, will be paid with city water and sewer services and will be annexed to the city, keeping insurance costs down, Craig pointed out. He said the two doctors have been offered more money for the land, but gave the school district an option at the lower price.

The new school will be about what the new school will have.

Marrying-age up to 16

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI) — Hungary Thursday raised the minimum marrying age from 12 to 16 years for females and from 14 to 18 years for males, the Hungarian news agency, MTI, said.

Simon pushes domestic energy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Treasury Secretary-designate William E. Simon Thursday warned Americans that they will have to accept a sharply lower standard of living and a position of dependency in the world if they develop domestic energy resources.

In a major policy speech before the American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) convention, the outgoing administrator of the Federal Energy Office said the economic impact of the energy crisis could have been worse if it had not been for the underlying strength of our economic system both before and after the oil embargo — and today.

"Evidence points clearly to the fact that the economy seems to have passed through the energy crisis with the minimum amount of disruption to real economy activity," Simon said.

"The economic weakness we are now experiencing, or are likely to experience in the months ahead, does not appear to be severe enough, or widespread enough to call for additional fiscal stimulus."

"The belief that we can safely depend on foreign energy supplies is now glaringly exposed. So, too, is our national propensity to waste. The alternatives are starkly clear. We as a nation can develop our own resources or we can drift from crisis to crisis until inevitably we will have to accept both a sharply lower standard of living and a position of dependency in international affairs."

Simon told reporters after his speech that the American economy is at or near a low and the rest of the year will show improvement.

"The major problem is inflation, and I'd do my best to get the dragon back in the cave," he said.

Simon's speech closed the 80th annual ANPA convention. Harold W. Anderson, president of the American World Trade Association, publisher of the Boston Globe, Joe P. Smith Jr., publisher of the Alexandria (La.) Daily Town Talk, was elected vice chairman. M.W. Armstrong III, of Landmark Communications, Norfolk, Va., was re-elected secretary, and Len H. Small, of the Raleigh (N.C.) Journal, was re-elected treasurer.

Stanford Smith will continue as president of ANPA at the pleasure of the board.

Earlier SkyLab 3 astronauts told the convention that the press could motivate Americans by reporting more of the good side of the news.

TF man injured in 2-car mishap

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man was injured slightly Thursday in a two-car collision on Kimberly Road.

William Warren, 55, was treated for a lacerated finger, underwent leg X-rays and was then released from the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Warren was a passenger in a car driven by Ralph Bogar, 70, Twin Falls, which was struck by a car driven by Robert L. Williams, 21, Burley.

Nelmer Bogar, William, a second passenger, in the Bogar vehicle, Venice Sharp, 44, Twin Falls, were injured. According to police reports, Bogar was pulling out of a parking lot in the 1700 block of Kimberly Road, turning east, when his vehicle was struck in the left front by the William auto, which was westbound in the left lane of Kimberly Road.

Damage to Bogar's 1965 sedan was estimated at $1,500, while damage to the William car, a 1970 model, was estimated at $1,000.

No citations have yet been issued. Police officers this morning were conducting crash tests to determine if the William car was traveling at excessive speed at the time of the accident.

Funds earmarked 'peacekeeping'

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration's foreign assistance request contains millions of dollars in standby money that could be used to help the United States in the Middle East, for resettlement of refugees, unforeseeable problems connected with a peace agreement and even aid to Syria.

This was acknowledged Wednesday by the State Department in a separate explanation from the briefing given by White House Press Spokesman Gerald Warren on President Nixon's request for a $5.18 billion aid package in the next fiscal year.

In disclosing that the administration already had plans for helping to finance the hoped-for peace accord, State Department Press Spokesman John F. King also disclosed that Israel will have to repay the United States for slightly more than half of the $2.2 billion in emergency assistance it received during and after the all-out phase of the October war.

King said the President has now made the initial decision to designate $1 billion of the Arabs assistance to Israel as a grant, but the balance of $1.1 billion will be repaid by the United States as a credit or loan to be repaid at concessional rates of interest.

In disclosing that $100 million of the new aid bill is for resettlement of refugees, Warren said it was earmarked for "peacekeeping roles and reconstruction." King said the $100 million is intended for resettlement of refugees and other problems that would come with a formal peace.

While officials did not identify the refugees for which the money is intended, observers anticipate there will be considerable redrawing of frontiers among the states of Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Syria in any treaty. This, they said, could result in the movement of about 3 million people to new homes or their return to areas evacuated in the fighting.

McClure raps water request from NM aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A suggestion by the governor of New Mexico to divert Idaho waters to the southwest was labeled "claim-jumping" Thursday by Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho.

McClure wrote to Gov. Bruce King that Idaho's waters are already fully committed to already used water.

He said the diversion proposal represents a "kind of claim-jumping that has not been tolerated in the past and will not be tolerated now."

"The people of the southwest and California are going to have to realize that the Snake River waters are over committed," McClure said.

"We have plans for every last acre-foot of it. They might just as well learn that our water is not there for them."

McClure also pointed out in his letter to Governor King that "we are gradually losing the amount of water that we have each year."

This was clearly exemplified last year when the Pacific northwest experienced a drought and we can expect to have more dry years in the future. It is wishful thinking to talk about surplus water because there simply isn't any."

Massachusetts produces half the country's cranberries, followed by Wisconsin, New Jersey, Washington and Oregon.

Impeachment, trip eyed

WASHINGTON — President Nixon should put off the scheduled June summit meeting in Moscow if there is any likelihood impeachment proceedings will be approaching a crisis point in Congress then, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said Thursday.

Sounding very much like a presidential candidate, Jackson broke with Senate tradition by speaking for the first time publicly since he had hinted in recent public statements criticizing administration détente policies toward the Soviet Union.

"Even if a good agreement came out of a summit in June," Jackson said, "it is going to be suspect in the present constitutional climate."

"I don't think Nixon can keep a credible position with our allies if he goes to negotiate in Moscow while Congress is considering his constitutional life," Jackson asserted.

The only circumstances under which the June summit meeting would be acceptable, in his eyes, given the present "deteriorated" state of the Nixon presidency, the senator said, would be if Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger are prepared to put the Russians off an overall reduction in nuclear missile deployment.

Jackson for months has tried to persuade the administration to make numerical reduction of missiles a key point in strategic arms limitation negotiations which Jackson claims otherwise will favor the Soviets because they have more and heavier weapons than the United States.

Rather than indulge in summery, the administration ought to be paying attention to the economy, Jackson said. He asserted that the U.S. is in the verge of the worst recession since the 1930s.

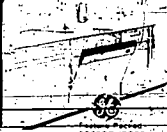

"The impeachment," Jackson rejected, "is not a specific criminal offense must be proved before a President can be removed from office. A serious abuse of office, of a sort Jackson termed as showing "moral turpitude," ought to be enough, he said.

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Parks Board has approved a "rent-a-tent" pilot program to help introduce greenberies to camping in state parks.

The board Thursday approved the program which will allow rental of a six-person tent, ice chest, lantern, two cots and two foam mattress pads, a butane stove, water, electricity and picnic table for a fee of $7.50 per night.

The "rent-a-tent" packages will be available at Massacre Rock, Ruffagut and Ponderosa State Parks with two weeks advance reservations.

Steven Bly, director of the State Parks Department, told newsmen the package deal will
